

In the Court of Appeals of the State of Alaska

David Christopher Nordlund,
Appellant,

v.

State of Alaska,
Appellee.

Court of Appeals No. A-13053

Order

Date of Order: June 24, 2020

Trial Court Case No. 1KE-17-00335CI

IT IS ORDERED, SUA SPONTE:

The Appellant, David Nordlund, presents a single issue in this appeal: whether he was improperly denied the benefit of AS 33.16.220(i), which was amended by the legislature as part of Senate Bill 91 and in effect at the time his parole was revoked. The State, in its brief, contends that Mr. Nordlund’s appeal is moot because, based on Mr. Nordlund’s May 2017 parole revocation — which resulted in a new release date of June 22, 2018 — he is “no longer under supervision or incarceration.”

Mr. Nordlund did not address the potential mootness of this appeal in his opening brief, and despite the State’s contention in its brief, Mr. Nordlund filed a notice that he was not filing a reply brief. Because the Court wishes to know Mr. Nordlund’s position on the question of whether this appeal is moot, the Court directs Mr. Nordlund to file a reply brief addressing that contention.

The reply brief shall not exceed ten pages and shall comply with Appellate Rule 212. Mr. Nordlund’s reply brief shall be filed on or before July 14, 2020.

Entered under the authority of Chief Judge Allard.
